Shoot Point Blank was launched following poor customer service at two local gun stores experienced by founder, Tom Willingham, on February 18, 2012. The experiences have left him wondering why buying a gun or shooting at an indoor shooting range must have been so different (and so bad) compared to other retail shopping experiences. Buying a gun should be fun and the seller should be helpful instead of acting as if they are doing you a favor! Realizing the potential of the market, the concept took shape to open an interior range and a retail venue that was friendly, organized, well supplied and clean! Retail 101. The first Point Blank Range and GunShop opened on November 12, 2012 and was a huge success. Since then, additional stores have been opened in different cities and all have been received with the arms of welcome customers. Hundreds of thousands of people visited our stores and used our ranges and classrooms. Our competitive advantage is our staff and we remain focused on providing the basics: firearms, ammunition, range, and classes. Our goal is to continue to promote responsible gun ownership and use with all those who walk through our collective doors. Here are some comments from our customers on their Live Confidently experience... "Really likes coming to Point Blank because I feel extremely safe especially inside the range. I was at another local range once and I felt like I was in a bad part of the big city... I'm going to stay at Point Blank and I'm going to strongly suggest to everything I talk to, to go to Point Blank. Bradley W. took care of all our work on paper and put everything in place for our first 30-minute visit. He was very helpfully answered questions and helped my wife feel very comfortable. The security guard of the range also helped us on our first visit and provided a good level of comfort on the range. bsolument high-end customer service! (especially Gary and the security guard from the range out there during daylight hours)... Always go above and beyond to answer all my questions and sons, making sure we have everything we need and pointing out other suggestions of what we might want to try, given past choices.
